DOG CLOTHING

The easiest method of measuring the length of the back length of your dog is by using a flexible measuring tape from a point between the shoulder blades to the base of the tail. The dog should be standing straight to ensure an optimal measurement.

The correct coat, jacket or pullover size is determined by using the back measurement (C). When selecting the size please take into account the measurements of the neck and chest (A + B) circumference of the respective item of clothing as well as information on the composition of the material used or method of adjustment.

As a rule: each item of clothing should be tried on before purchasing in order to ensure that the fit pleases both animal and owner.
